Dear Fellow Pilgrims,

A lot has been made during the last few years about the lack of leadership in our world. Perhaps you have heard the lament there is a lack of true leaders in the world; whether in the world of business, the world of politics, and even the world of religion. In some ways I agree. Sometimes in the business world it seems a CEO from one faltering corporation is spirited away to take the helm of another faltering corporation, in hopes of bringing prosperity and stability to the new corporation. Is the talent pool in the business world that shallow? There are times in politics it seems we do the same, much like a game of musical chairs. Politicians move from one office to another always promising a better tomorrow yet never being able to deliver enough of the goods to satisfy enough of the people. The only way the game ends for some politicians is when the music stops and a politician dies or is caught in a scandal too big to be explained away. Is this simply another method of recycling?

Regarding the world of religion, it seems we are always looking for the next great fad to which we can hitch our horse or else look to the past to a horse that once got us to a spot where we were comfortable (at least that's the way we remember it) and continue to prop up the horse, even though it has long since gone lame or died. Too often we look for answers in Golden Age that never was.

The laments about the leadership vacuum in our world are widespread and loud. In some ways, I don't understand why anyone would want to take on a leadership role. It seems at times instead of a leader what we really want is a scapegoat, one on whom we can cast all our shortcomings and mistakes before we send it off to be killed, so we don't need to feel badly about ourselves.

I would like to offer an idea that instead of a leadership vacuum what we really have is a followership vacuum. I think there are plenty of leaders out there. Perhaps there are too many of them. The problem is, however, that with so many different leaders it becomes difficult for us to decide on which leader to pin our hopes or we become confused with all the promises that are made and what we truly want and/or believe about the truth. Besides, what many of the leaders offer are things that are not truly life-giving or life-affirming. They are much like the apple that appears nice and shiny red on the outside, but beyond the skin on the inside hides a worm filled rotten core.

Jesus calls to us through the ages, "Follow me." But do we still know how to follow? And, if we think about it, do we like the way Jesus describes what it means to follow? Throughout the ages I believe there have been those in the church that have tried to lessen the expectations of what it means to follow Jesus and in the end have turned it from a radical, life-changing path that leads to a better world for all, to a comfortable path that leads much of no where and has no power to change much of anything.

Are we willing to wrestle with what it means to truly be a follower, or will we discover the road too rough and sadly turn away? Or will we continue to seek our own comfort and security and wield none of the power that comes with truly following Jesus? That's a wrestling match I would pay to see because it could potentially spell the end to the lack of true followership.

Your Partner in Wrestling,

Pastor Gary

We are currently registering children for fall. We are licensed to serve families that have children between the ages of 2 years 9 months through 5 years of age. We believe that each child deserves the opportunity to grow and develop in a safe, loving environment and stimulating Christian environment. Children are treated with warmth and respect, and learn to appreciate their value and importance in God's world. Our goals are to help children grow in their sense of self-worth, to recognize their strengths and abilities, and to develop physically, intellectually, emotionally and spiritually.

Call the preschool at 526-9069 for more information.

SCRIP SUGGESTIONS

Once again we honor our mothers and grandmothers for always caring about and loving us no matter our age. While our children are busy making their handmade gifts for us to cherish, our husbands and significant others are struggling to decide what to get us. Well, we at the Scrip table, can be of incalculable assistance!

Some of the most popular gifts are flowers, jewelry, perfumes, candy, or clothing. And guess what? We have gift cards to cover all of those. All you have to do is tell us what you need and we will be more than happy to order the cards for you and have them ready to pickup in about a week.

Maybe you want to take the little lady to the theater, or out to dinner. We can help you there as well. Planning a family party? Get everything you need at Von's, Albertson's or Ralphs.

I know it is disappointing to find that we may not have the exact store you want to use on hand. But since we have about 100 possible shops on our list, it is not feasible for us to have them all on hand all the time. We do keep the most popular ones available at all times. But, as I said, we are most happy to order whatever your little heart desires and it will arrive in about a week for you to pick up.

We are here to be of service in any way possible. Every purchase you make, returns a portion to the church. It is such a simple and painless way to increase your giving. So see us at the SCRIP table on Sunday.

MISSIONAL LUTHERAN EDUCATION

To get to the heart of missional education, one must start at the heart of God, the heart of the Gospel. Jesus's purpose for coming into our world was to seek and to save the lost. "For the Son of Man came to seek and to save what was lost." (Luke 19:10) So, then, our mission is not about budget or buildings, our mission is about people. Sure, we need to be practical about budgets and buildings, but we cannot let them define our outreach.

Lutheran schools are the largest Protestant school system in our country. In our schools, over half of the students are unchurched giving us a chance to spread the Gospel. The other part of this is that in our Lutheran educational system, not only are students taught about the faith, they are taught how to share the faith. Our Spirit-inspired goal is to make disciples who can make disciples.

Robert Newton, California-Nevada-Hawaii LCMS District President, recently said, "One of the last bridges remaining between our church and the unchurched in the post-church era is the education of children. Here is where our Lutheran schools, preschools, and early childhood education centers continue to serve as critical mission posts in our communities."

Terry Schmidt, another

church leader, is quoted as saying, "Care and compassion are the hall-marks of Lutheran schools. Christian service is what makes us different . . . Lutheran schools are caring for and serving children first. They are family-centered and are intentionally reaching out into their communities with the love of God."

Support your local Lutheran schools with prayers, talents, and treasure. Just as you support other worthy ministries, take time to support the gift of Christian education your churches share with the community through their preschools and elementary day school.

"For we are God's masterpiece. He has created us anew in Christ Jesus, so we can do the good things He planned for us to do long ago." Ephesians 2:10

Eyeglass Ministry

We are happy to report that 36 used eyeglasses have been donated for use by those unable to afford to pay for their own. All of us who wear glasses, are keenly aware of how necessary they are. Without them, we might not be able to find work, drive a car or live a normal life. Many thanks to those who so generously give to the less fortunate. You are a special blessing to many. Remember, this is an ongoing ministry so continue to bring in your old glasses when you get new ones. Just leave them in the narthex., give them to the Scrip people, or drop them off in the office. They will be greatly appreciated.
